

SIG Junior Analyst Program Application

Please type or write neatly. Illegible applications will not be considered

BASIC INFORMATION

Name:	UNT EUID:
Email:	Major:
Phone Number:	Graduation Semester:

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS – Please answer on a separate page, not exceeding one page.

1. Why do you feel you are qualified for this position?
2. Why do you wish to become an analyst?
3. What do you hope to gain from being an analyst?
4. Additional comments.

ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTS

1. Resume
2. Transcript (Non-official is acceptable; not applicable to freshmen in undergraduate program)
3. Class schedule, including extracurricular activities or work

 ALL DOCUMENTS MUST BE TURNED IN AS SEPARATE FILES IN PDF FORMAT

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- This application is due on Friday January 31st, at midnight. Please email this form and other documents to sig@unt.edu with a subject line of “Application to Junior Analyst Program – FirstName LastName”
- The portfolio managers will contact applicants by February 2nd for an interview on February 3rd through February 6th
- The results will be announced by Thursday, February 6th night
- The first Meeting will be on the Friday February 7th from 4pm – 6pm (TBD) in the Trading Room (BLB 106)
- Please email sig@unt.edu with any questions

All analysts are expected to:

- Attend SIG’s General Meetings on Thursdays from 5:00pm – 6:00pm in BLB 255
- Attend Analyst Meetings on Fridays from 4:00pm – 6:00pm in the Trading Room (BLB 106)
- Attend team-specific meetings, subject to team members’ schedules
- Represent SIG in a professional manner at all times

About SIG Junior Analyst Program

- A selective semester-based program where a junior analyst learns the fundamentals of finance, accounting, and economics in order to advance to a full-time analyst role at SIG.
- The junior analysts will be guided by either a Senior Analyst or Portfolio Manager (PM) throughout the program
- Upon successfully completing the program,
 - The PMs may extend return invitations to the junior analysts for the following semester or academic year
 - A junior analyst may receive a promotion to become an Equity Analyst
- An analyst may be let go from the program if the analyst continuously shows lack of involvement, commitment, quality, and / or other events that prevent an analyst to perform effectively
- The Analyst Program is designed to provide a well-rounded experience to students who are interested in career paths including banking, investment, consulting, corporate finance, accounting, and other career paths that require analytical skills
- During the program, an analyst will have the opportunity to learn about the following:
 - Financial markets
 - Financial institutions
 - Financial instruments
 - Macroeconomic analysis
 - Industry analysis
 - Basic financial accounting
 - Financial statements
 - Using the Bloomberg terminal
 - Communication skills
 - Teamwork
- Priorities will be given to applicants who:
 - Have experience or knowledge in topics such as macroeconomics, microeconomics, statistics, mathematics; and/or
 - Show exceptional level of interest and commitment
- The number of analysts selected may be limited. Therefore, it is important that anyone interested in the Junior Analyst Program demonstrates commitment and follows the application instructions

Thank you for your interest in the Junior Analyst Program!

Good Luck!